

SERIOUSLY SWEET

In the first NCAA matchup since 1981, No. 7-seed WSU and No. 2-seed KU battled it out in Omaha. Now the Shockers are headed to the Sweet 16.

» “One of the biggest wins I’ve been involved with being a Shocker... and we’re going to the Sweet 16.”

— Ron Baker

Who said yellow and blue didn’t mix? The stands of the CenturyLink

Center were filled with Shocker and Jayhawk fans Sunday in Omaha.

Before Wichita State’s 78-65 dismantling of the University of Kansas, head coach Gregg Marshall met with fans at the team’s hotel. As a chorus of cheers rang out upon Marshall’s arrival, he grabbed the microphone in front of a sea of Shocker faithful.

“Whew,” Marshall said. “I don’t know if you’re more excited about going to the Sweet 16 or playing the team in crimson and blue.”

Marshall’s prediction came true. The Shockers are headed to Cleveland for the Sweet 16 where the No. 3-seeded Notre Dame Fighting Irish await.
