

Shockers fly over Hoosiers, Jayhawks in Omaha

» Picture this.

1. Wichita State fans flash the “Shockers Up” hand signal during the Indiana game Friday at the CenturyLink Center.
2. Head coach Gregg Marshall lectures his coaching staff during Wichita State’s matchup with Indiana on Friday. The Shockers won 81-76.
3. Shocker Sound performs during a timeout Friday at the CenturyLink Center in Omaha. With a win over Indiana Friday, the Shockers advanced to play KU.
4. Little Shocker fans such as Charlie Roland, 2, took part in pregame festivities in Omaha. Fans gathered for a pep rally Sunday before the KU game.
5. A Wichita State fan anxiously watches Friday’s game against the Indiana Hoosiers. The Shockers advanced to the next round to play KU.
6. Junior Ron Baker flies into the basket during the game against the University of Kansas Sunday. Baker finished the game with 12 points.
7. Gregg Marshall, Tekele Cotton and Ron Baker speak to the media in a press conference following the win over the University of Kansas Sunday.
8. Senior Tekele Cotton makes a face during the KU game Sunday. Cotton finished with 19 points.
9. Shocker fans held up fan signs at the KU game, such as this one that reads “Eat More Chikinhawk.”
10. Redshirt freshman Shaq Morris celebrates during Friday’s game against Indiana. Morris finished the game with eight points against the Hoosiers.

— Photos by Kevin Brown

